

DEPARTMENT OF SOCIOLOGY

B.A. General

Under Choice Based Credit System (CBCS)

PSOs of B.A. (General) Sociology

PSO1:

- Realizing the nature and scope of Sociology.
- Establishing Sociology as a social science.
- Interpreting common sense to know about basic form of Sociology and other discipline of social sciences.

PSO2:

- Finding out relation and interdependence of Sociology with Social Anthropology, Psychology and History.

PSO3:

- Distinguishing the features of an Individual and Group in the mirror of society,
- Locating the chief traits of Association and Institutions,
- Focusing how Culture of different races and institutions plays an important role in the building a society and making its framework,
- Illumination on the different types of changes that takes place in the social organization and human behaviors that is the structure and the functions of the society,

PSO4:

- Define India as a plural society and illustrating how 'Unity in Diversity' acts a unique social design and how it sometimes paves way for troubles in the unity of our Nation.
- How different caste systems prevail and a gradual process of upgrading one's own socially inferior and downtrodden caste to a far more superior caste through the Sanskritization of new customs and rituals.
- Demonstrating the principal features of the existing tribes in contemporary India and a social Endeavour to bring them back to the mainstream of the Society,
- Demonstrate the concept, features advantages and disadvantages of the Rural and Urban Class.

- In a nutshell how self-sufficient village community comes into existence,
- Elaborating the types of family and bond of kinship in India.

PSO5:

- Struggle of the Dalits and the Women to raise their social status and get an equal privilege in the society with others,

PSO6:

- Stating the problems and challenges of Communalism and looking for positive solution,
- Describing how the term ‘Secularism’ came into being ,its concept and nature in the social structure along with its challenges,

PSO7:

- A brief account of how Sociology emerged as a new discipline,
- Interpreting the philosophy and theories of Karl Marx in the concept of Historical Materialism, class consciousness and Class Struggle,
- Durkheim’s concept on different Social Facts and the varied forms of Solidarity,
- Presenting Max Weber’s far-fetched visionary conception on Ideal Type and Social Action and diverse type of Authority.

PSO8: Giving a detailed idea about the various techniques of social research which include

- Formulation of a research problem and framing suitable question for the research
- Gathering valuable data by going through and reviewing appropriate and relevant literature sampling framework and using primary sources
- Logical content analysis of the accumulated data through coding decoding, interpretation and using Case Study method.

COs of the Sociology

CO1: In Sociology, socialization is the process of internalizing the norms and ideologies of society. After learning about this course student acquires the knowledge, language, social skills and value to conform to the norms and roles required for integration into a group or community or social institutions.

CO2: This subject will give students a better understanding of mankind.

CO3: society as a whole is in a constant state of flux. Studying for a degree in Sociology will help student not only understand what is going on, but assist students in adapting or coping with societal change.

CO4: By studying Sociology and moving into a career within government, local community programmes or charities, students can really effect positive change where they live.

CO5: A student or graduate of Sociology has a lot of areas to apply the knowledge and skill acquired. It teaches students to understand people from different backgrounds. This improves students' teamwork abilities. Sociology will also help to understand various cultures. In return, student will easily practice cultural relativism with a lot of ease.

CO5: Sociology helps a graduate to fit into many sectors of the economy. If students study it together with 'Education' they will enjoy teaching as it will be easy to understand students from different socio-economic, political and religious backgrounds. If they become policeman, they would understand why crime is higher in a certain social class as opposed to another.